JHP Re: Monthly Personnel Statistical
 Review (MPSR)

This is a gratuitous comment, and from an acknowledgedly untutored view, but this report on a monthly basis looks like a great extravagance to me.

The breakdowns are so fine that I doubt if they signify much on a monthly basis. Also, distribution of report seems to run about a month behind period reported. Would think quarterly, or even semi-annually or annually would be often enough - when trends would be apparent and meaningful comparison might be made, and conclusions drawn.

Wonder what use is made of these by recipients.

PS - Apparently between ^{Lucile} 9 and 14 copies are distributed.
